

How many of the discriminating methods place a breakpoint in each 100 nt bin

Saturating methods excluded -- including them puts a breakpoint in almost every bin and the count becomes uninformative

